

Whig and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURN, PROPRIETORS.

10 A. M. BOUTELLE, Editor.
All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burn, and communications intended for publication should be addressed "Editor of Whig and Courier."

THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1860.

STATE OF MAINE.

BY THE GOVERNOR:

A PROCLAMATION.

In accordance with an old and well-respected custom of the country, with the advice and consent of the Executive Council, I declare,

THURSDAY, the 25th Day of April, Inst.,

AS A DAY OF

KASTING AND PRAYER,

And I recommend to the people of Maine, their concerning the welfare of the slaves, and the conduct of their trials, to make a general day of public fasting, and unto its religious devotion to fasting and prayer, that may reverently saw the Supreme Being, as the Author and Father of all, whom implacable obloge is always on, and without whose care man can have no true prosperity. In the name of the Holy Ghost, I command you, therefore, that on this day, every individual and of the independence of the United States, of America, one hundred and thirteen,

LOWIN G. CLINTON, G.G.H.

By the Governor,

GRANVILLE F. WOOD, Secretary of State.

Col. John R. Fellows while in Louisville for his health said to a reporter that the whole trials are practically abandoned.

That was exactly what his election meant.

The borderer knew that.

The Springfield "Advertiser" remarks that hope deferred match the heart sick.

The editor doubtless had been reading in a review of the work of the last administration when he penned those words.

According to the plan of the free traders that we cannot hope to export manufactured goods so long as the protective policy is maintained, the American Advertiser addresses statistics which show that manufactures contrived 100 per cent. of our total exports last year, against 114 per cent. in 1860.

"The Rhode Island Republicans have concluded to end the United States Senate by electing a new Senator from the state before the next election, and yesterday voted to succeed Senator Coggs, resigned. Mr. Dixon has lead the talk and yesterday will be received the regular number of votes to insure his election.

The Rhode Island Republicans have a majority of the General Assembly, and will elect the State officers except the Attorney General who was elected by the people. This long drawn out struggle shows the danger of splitting up in factions over local issues. The Republicans better make up their mind to act together in the future instead of playing into the hands of the Democrats.

The Cincinnati "Commercial Gazette" has two reasons for discrediting the rumor that George M. Pendleton, of Ohio, will seek the place now held by Senator Payne in the United States Senate, whose term will expire March 3, 1861. First, it says, "the party in Ohio which sold him out is about the same as it was, and second, it thinks the next Ohio Legislature will be Republican! In either case Pendleton's chances seem to be very slim."

Senator Payne of Ohio is reported as saying that he shall look to the next Legislature to vindicate him.
The Legislature which succeeds the Standard Oil Company's popular style of argument, Mr. Payne ought to be satisfied when he has held a seat in the Standard Oil term that never was by right.
At least if he is wise he will not attempt another term. The people of Ohio have been sharpening their knives for some time for political scuttle, and they will have it.

When Mr. Cleveland entered the White House he felt under a sense of personal obligation to the Mugwumps. These Mugwumps are the most persistent of all the persistent office-seekers and they promptly sent in their bill for services in the form of a demand for the resumption of Postmaster Pearson in New York.
The President in order to cancel this political debt gave them Mr. Pearson, just as he gave other men different offices in payment for political services, and the Mug-wumps now insist that while there may have been politics in the other cases, their own little arrangement was civil service reform pure and simple. This is Mugwump consistency.

The New York "Times" before Mr. Van Cott has assumed the duties of his position says "We well make a very poor postmaster." This perhaps affords the best possible illustration of the value of the opinion of the Times. Without the shadow of information on the subject, it being of course impossible to know of a man's capabilities before he has had an opportunity to demonstrate what he will be able to do, the Times allows its malignancy to run away with common sense and declares him a failure before he has even taken possession of the office. A reputable paper would not do so mean a bluster; such work is left for the Mugwump sheets.

Secretary Root has issued a pamphlet giving a history of the agricultural experiment stations which have been established under a recent law of Congress and are now conducting scientific and practical experiments in regard to soil, tillage, ma-nures, crops, stock feeding, dairying and horticulture in the various States. All the States and our Territory, Dakota, now have agricultural experiment stations.
The total number of these stations now in operation is forty-six, or including branch stations, nearly sixty. They employ more than 270 scientists and agriculturalists, and with this year receive $600,000 from the National Government and about $15,- 000 from the States and other sources.
The most cordial feeling is to be seen between the stations and the Department of Agriculture, which is charged by Congress with the duty of supervising and advising the work of the stations.

Lewis Hayden's Home.

PLACE WHERE ABOLITION PLANS HAVE BEEN PREPARED—REHEarsed ON ALL THE GREAT ANTI-SLAVERY LEADERS.— MEMORIES OF THE DATE WHEN COU-NCILS WERE HELD TO HUNTER THE CHAINS OF TYRANNY.

There are few places in historic Boston which so far surpass the episode details of common experience as to become as strong and powerful in their fascination as romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club and poe, statesmen and philosophers, master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip the shackles from the weak in their unequal struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and honor have burst through the hardened wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot has been made immortal, sacrificed his life and honor to the welfare of his race, and died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's was a blighted man for body, for the last month I suffered from a severe attack of rheumatism, and I could not get out of bed for weeks. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I was soon well again.
I am now in full strength, and I thank
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

There are few places in historic Boston
which so far surpass the episode details
of common experience as to become as
strong and powerful in their fascination as
romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick
house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club
and poe, statesmen and philosophers,
master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip
the shackles from the weak in their unequal
struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as
foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and
honor have burst through the hardened
wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and
burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot
has been made immortal, sacrificed his life
and honor to the welfare of his race, and
died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-
nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's
was a blighted man for body, for the last month I suffered from a severe attack
of rheumatism, and I could not get
out of bed for weeks. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I was soon well again.
I am now in full strength, and I thank
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

There are few places in historic Boston
which so far surpass the episode details
of common experience as to become as
strong and powerful in their fascination as
romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick
house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club
and poe, statesmen and philosophers,
master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip
the shackles from the weak in their unequal
struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as
foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and
honor have burst through the hardened
wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and
burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot
has been made immortal, sacrificed his life
and honor to the welfare of his race, and
died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-
nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's
was a blighted man for body, for the last month I suffered from a severe attack
of rheumatism, and I could not get
out of bed for weeks. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I was soon well again.
I am now in full strength, and I thank
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

There are few places in historic Boston
which so far surpass the episode details
of common experience as to become as
strong and powerful in their fascination as
romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick
house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club
and poe, statesmen and philosophers,
master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip
the shackles from the weak in their unequal
struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as
foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and
honor have burst through the hardened
wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and
burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot
has been made immortal, sacrificed his life
and honor to the welfare of his race, and
died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-
nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's
was a blighted man for body, for the last month I suffered from a severe attack
of rheumatism, and I could not get out of bed for weeks. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I was soon well again.
I am now in full strength, and I thank
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

There are few places in historic Boston
which so far surpass the episode details
of common experience as to become as
strong and powerful in their fascination as
romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick
house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club
and poe, statesmen and philosophers,
master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip
the shackles from the weak in their unequal
struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as
foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and
honor have burst through the hardened
wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and
burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot
has been made immortal, sacrificed his life
and honor to the welfare of his race, and
died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-
nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's
was a blighted man for body, for the last month I suffered from a severe attack
of rheumatism, and I could not get out of bed for weeks. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I was soon well again.
I am now in full strength, and I thank
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

There are few places in historic Boston
which so far surpass the episode details
of common experience as to become as
strong and powerful in their fascination as
romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick
house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club
and poe, statesmen and philosophers,
master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip
the shackles from the weak in their unequal
struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as
foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and
honor have burst through the hardened
wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and
burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot
has been made immortal, sacrificed his life
and honor to the welfare of his race, and
died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-
nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's
was a blighted man for body, for the last month I suffered from a severe attack
of rheumatism, and I could not get out of bed for weeks. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I was soon well again.
I am now in full strength, and I thank
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

There are few places in historic Boston
which so far surpass the episode details
of common experience as to become as
strong and powerful in their fascination as
romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick
house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club
and poe, statesmen and philosophers,
master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip
the shackles from the weak in their unequal
struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as
foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and
honor have burst through the hardened
wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and
burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot
has been made immortal, sacrificed his life
and honor to the welfare of his race, and
died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-
nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's
was a blighted man for body, for the last month I suffered from a severe attack
of rheumatism, and I could not get out of bed for weeks. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I was soon well again.
I am now in full strength, and I thank
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

There are few places in historic Boston
which so far surpass the episode details
of common experience as to become as
strong and powerful in their fascination as
romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick
house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club
and poe, statesmen and philosophers,
master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip
the shackles from the weak in their unequal
struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as
foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and
honor have burst through the hardened
wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and
burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot
has been made immortal, sacrificed his life
and honor to the welfare of his race, and
died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-
nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's
was a blighted man for body, for the
last month I suffered from a severe attack
of rheumatism, and I could not get out of bed for weeks. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I was soon well again.
I am now in full strength, and I thank
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

There are few places in historic Boston
which so far surpass the episode details
of common experience as to become as
strong and powerful in their fascination as
romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick
house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club
and poe, statesmen and philosophers,
master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip
the shackles from the weak in their unequal
struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as
foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and
honor have burst through the hardened
wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and
burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot
has been made immortal, sacrificed his life
and honor to the welfare of his race, and
died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-
nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's
was a blighted man for body, for the
last month I suffered from a severe attack
of rheumatism, and I could not get out of bed for weeks. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I was soon well again.
I am now in full strength, and I thank
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

There are few places in historic Boston
which so far surpass the episode details
of common experience as to become as
strong and powerful in their fascination as
romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick
house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club
and poe, statesmen and philosophers,
master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip
the shackles from the weak in their unequal
struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as
foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and
honor have burst through the hardened
wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and
burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot
has been made immortal, sacrificed his life
and honor to the welfare of his race, and
died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-
nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's
was a blighted man for body, for the
last month I suffered from a severe attack
of rheumatism, and I could not get out of bed for weeks. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I was soon well again.
I am now in full strength, and I thank
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

There are few places in historic Boston
which so far surpass the episode details
of common experience as to become as
strong and powerful in their fascination as
romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick
house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club
and poe, statesmen and philosophers,
master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip
the shackles from the weak in their unequal
struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as
foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and
honor have burst through the hardened
wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and
burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot
has been made immortal, sacrificed his life
and honor to the welfare of his race, and
died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-
nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's
was a blighted man for body, for the
last month I suffered from a severe attack
of rheumatism, and I could not get out of bed for weeks. I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I was soon well again.
I am now in full strength, and I thank
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

There are few places in historic Boston
which so far surpass the episode details
of common experience as to become as
strong and powerful in their fascination as
romance itself, as the home of the late Lewis Hayden, a little grim-looking brick
house on Phillips street, says the Boston Herald. Under its roof have gathered club
and poe, statesmen and philosophers,
master and slave. Its old walls have witnessed the birth of many a plot to strip
the shackles from the weak in their unequal
struggle against iron-hearted, monarchs to whose heaven may we as
foreign as dew to the parched Sahara, and here intelligence, courage and
honor have burst through the hardened
wall of ignorance, poverty and infamy, and
burnt fruit by which all mankind is blessed.
Here the dead hero by whose act this spot
has been made immortal, sacrificed his life
and honor to the welfare of his race, and
died nobly. Dr. Tyron of Fernando-
nia recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year.
I did not then know that Ayer's
was a blighted man for body, for the last month I suffered from a

Albig and Courier.

THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1861.

MAINE NEWS.

FIRE UPON.

Schooner Carrie A. Bucknam, of Bucksport.

Report of Captain Abel Stubbs of Bangor.

New York, April 10.—Carrie A. Bucknam, arrived to-day from San Domingo city, reports March 21st; when off St. Domingo Island, at noon sighted a vessel steaming towards her vessel. The craft proved to be a dismasted war vessel. It laid its course to port, the Bucknam but could not do so, owing to the strong breeze, and fell astern a mile. When nearly in the schooner's wake she fired a shot which struck the water only a few yards from the Bucknam's stern. She then gave chase, but with the strong breeze the schooner distanced her. After keeping up the chase about two hours, she gave it up. Her decks were crowded with men. What her errand was could only be conjectured, as the Bucknam was far outside their jurisdiction on the high seas, where they could have no legitimate right to enter her. The American flag was flying at the schooner's peak.

YARD AUGUSTA.

Insane Hospital Trustees Confirmed.

AUGUSTA, April 10.—At a meeting of the Governor and Council this afternoon, the new trustees of the Insane Asylum were confirmed and qualified.

The State House Committee.

The State House Commission.

FROM HOOKE BAY.

Reported Damaged and Sailed.

Brownrigg, April 10.—The schooner E. G. Clark master, Survey for Boston, arrived here last night looking. She reported damaged this morning for her destination.

ADMIRAL APPOINTED.

Additional to Town in Maine.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The Postmaster General has appointed the following postmasters: Mr. Malone; John M. Akers; Alfred H. Fletcher; Capt. Porpoise; George D. Sargent; Falmouth Postmaster; Mr. M. Foster; Lubec; Mr. M. Libby; Mr. H. A. Hart; North Bridgeton; H. C. Wheeler; Olsson; George C. Mitchell; G. C. Gray; Wesley; S. H. Bradley; West Lubec; D. A. Stevens; York; C. H. Jenkins; York Corner.

FROM LEWISTON.

State Fair Previews.

LEXINGTON, April 10.—The Trustees of the Maine State Society and Eastern Maine State Fair met at Lewiston to-day to arrange the State appropriation. The State Fair of Old Society will hold their exhibition in connection with the State fair.

FROM BIDDEFORD.

Biddeford and Seaboard Electric Light and Power Company.

GLENFIELD, April 10.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Biddeford and Seaboard Electric Light and Power Company was held this afternoon and the following directors chosen: William Emery, Alfred; Stephen S. Mitchell, Horace H. Barbuck, Saco; George P. Weston, E. C. Hersey, George F. West, Portland; Robert McArthur, Biddeford.

Water Supply and Natural Exchanges.

An adjourned town meeting to-day was voted to "concentrate" in a water supply of $2,000 per year for twenty-five years; also appropriated $500 to survey and road to connect with the Knox and Lincoln.

THE LOYAL LEGION.

Second Quadrangular Session at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, April 10.—The Loyal Legion of the United States began to-morrow its second quadriennial session of the National Congress. To-night at banquet was served. Three hundred persons attended and toasts were responded to by Dr. Preble Hayes, Gen. Edward W. Hinks, of Massachusetts, and others. Letters of regret were read from President Harlow, Gen. Sherman, Senator Sherman and others.

NOTABLES AT GENERAL WANNERAKER'S Reception in Philadelphia.

PITTSBURGH, April 10.—Postmaster General Wanneraker was given a blue reception to-night in the New Hotel Manufacturing Club. The floral and other decorations of the house were lavish and costly. Among those who paid the respects were the business men representing all the great firms in the city, and representatives of the State and other parts of the Union.

WESTERN LUMBERMEN.

Expect a Bore of Logs Unless Heavy Rain.

DETROIT, Mich., April 10.—The light snow and no heavy rain during the past week has been the most remarkable drought this spring, that the lumber goods in Upper Michigan have never experienced. Over 1,000,000 feet of logs banked ready to be floated to the mills below, are hung up and not enough water in the streams to float them. Heavy snows continue to fall, but the mills are able to turn the winter's cut and keep the mills running the extra logs for nothing. The men also detail a number of galleys, such as those lost in cleaning and dicing machinery, etc. They go to work at 6:30 every morning. It is thought the strike will spread throughout the state and affect 20,000 hands, and it is very likely the strikers and do not want to settle them. The trouble is attributed to the new superintendent, Walmsley, a scotchman, whose ambition seems to force wages down to figures prevailing in Scotland. The strikers are orderly and do not loiter about the mills.

PHILADELPHIA.

Arrived for Meeting.

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—This morning William Smith went to the office of James Bradley, Tully & Co., to get his bill of lading for his load of timber he had hauled. The man started across the canopy along the railroad. A number of men started after him, a hand car but did not come up with him. They killed him, ran eight miles, when they killed him, the country was now believed to be full of bated breath, and many suspected of having been bitten will be killed.

DOGS OF WAR DOGS.

Excite the People of Virginia.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., April 10.—The people of Tyler county, especially along and near the railroad, are very much exercised over the appearance of dozens of mad dogs. Friday a large dog owned by Capt. H. H. Anderson of Long Branch, who had attacked and maimed several animal beings with great violence. The mad animal started across the canopy along the railroad. A number of men started after him, a hand car but did not come up with him. They killed him, ran eight miles, when they killed him, the country was now believed to be full of bated breath, and many suspected of having been bitten will be killed.

MARSHAL'S REPORT.

Valuable Wounds Received.

FOXBORO, April 10.—The wood had been in the woods for over two weeks, and Walpole, were seen to be in a

FROM WASHINGTON.

SERIOUS RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

News About the Capitol.

Death of Rear Admiral Patterson.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Rear Admiral Thomas H. Patterson, United States Navy, retired, died this morning at his residence in this city.

Rear Admiral Patterson was born in 1820 at New Orleans, La., entered the navy as midshipman in 1836, and at the breaking out of the war attained the rank of Lieutenant. He operated the way station at Pensacola, Fla., and was in command of the gunboat "McCallum's Army." Was commissioned commander in 1862, captain in 1868 and commodore in 1871. Commanded Washington navy yard in 1870 and was President of the Naval Board of Examination. In 1877 he became rear admiral, his last sea duty being the command of the Asiatic Squadron in 1880-81, when he retired in 1883. Admiral Patterson, a brother of the wife of Admiral Porter.

A Question Answered.

The Secretary of the Treasury recently received a letter from a resident of Canada saying that he proposed to remove to the United States and asking if certain machine for making jackets, now used by him in Canada, would be admitted free of duty. The word "jacket" trade mark is registered in the Patent Office, and the machine is the free use of tools of trade, as provided in the tariff act does not extend to "machinery and other articles imported for use in any manufacturing establishment." His inquiry was answered in the negative and he was further informed that his machine would be entitled to free entry under another provision of the tariff, unless they were manufactured in this country and are substantially the same condition as when exported.

The Samoan Affairs.

It is authoritatively stated at the State Department to-day that the three great powers concerned in Samoan affairs, England, Germany and the United States have reached an agreement which will be signed at Samoa on May 1st, and will be followed by a conference of the three countries to determine the termination of the Berlin Conference. The verbal statement of the United States will be the Agent.

Holding Back the Naval Vessels.

Orders for the Richmond to proceed from the mouth of the Alatia River, South America, to Samoa, are countermanded. Work on the Adams, now at Mare Island, also to be gone to Samoa, will be pushed with increased speed.

From the Pacific.

First Lieutenant Charles H. Clark of the Ordnance Department, has been relieved from duty at the National Armory, Springfield, to Samoa, and commanded to work on the Adams, now at Mare Island, and to his gone to Samoa, to assume command of the Vancouver Barracks Ordnance Department.

SUFFOCATING SMOKE.

Two-thirds of Milwaukee's Fire Department Disabled.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 10.—In the glazing rooms of Steger & Rockwell's glass and door factory, corner of Park street and Sixth avenue, to-night almost all the windows were broken. The members of the department were disabled. Chief Foley was twice carried out of the building unconscious. The side walk near the building was almost covered with disabled firemen, being rescued by physicians and nurses, and by the firemen themselves. The glass windows of the building were shattered.

Mr. J. L. Hart, had both legs broken.

Henry W. Lamb, also in the private car, was scalped about the face and body. Palmer, the freight brakeman, was hurled over the freight engine into the mass of iron and steel, and was cut to pieces. The engine was severely hurt. The railroad.

James Lynder, engineer of the passenger train, was severely hurt. The railroad officials are reticent and it is difficult to get accurate information. The wrecked coach was the private car of General Manager McCool of the California Central Railroad, a western branch of the Santa Fe. The passengers were all injured.

The San Francisco Friends.

Philadelphia, April 10.—A special committee of the Sons of Veterans opened at 12 o'clock a session to consider the possibility of sending a delegation to the Berlin Conference.

At 12 o'clock the San Francisco Friends.

SONS OF VETERANS.

The National Encampment at Albany.

ATLANTA, April 10.—The National Encampment of the Sons of Veterans opened this morning with about 150 delegates present. At the afternoon session it was decided to consolidate the post and camp systems.

A COMICAL WAR.

Between Two New Jersey Banks.

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—The royal of the City National Bank of Salem, N. J., to accept certain terms of exchange offered by the Woodstock, N. Y., National Bank, and in that bank to establish a branch of the New Jersey bank, which has assumed a central position. As the Salem Bank receives on deposit daily a large number of Woodstock bank checks, a messenger is dispatched to the latter place, eight miles distant, twice each week to receive money for the same. In order to push the plan through, Mr. Hart, president of the bank, has engaged Mr. Hart, assured, unless there should be unusual developments not indicated by the present conditions.

Mr. J. F. Hart.

BOSTON, April 10.—Mr. John F. Hart, who with his wife, was injured in the accident on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, was killed in a collision with a freight train, John F. Hart, wife and son, all of Brookline, and Henry W. Lamb, son of the same place, were severely injured. The two were all severely injured.

With the injured broken and brought to this day.

BASEBALL.

Game Played on Wednesday.

At Jersey City: New York 5; Princeton 4.

At Washington: Washington 6; Newark 5.

At Baltimore: All Americans 2; Chicago 1.

At Boston: Boston 12; Athletics 1.

At Philadelphia: Philadelphia 3; Brooklyn 4.

At Cincinnati: Cincinnati 8; Cleveland 1.

At Louisville: Louisville 6; Pittsburgh 3.

VIOLENCE AND ABUSE.

Killed the Death of a Paralytic Patient.

CHICAGO, April 10.—James D. Tully, operator of the dental clinic, to which he had been admitted with a paralytic disease, his patient at the Home for Incurables, in this city. A few days ago when his wife and daughter visited him they found their husband severely blackened and tongue badly cut by his teeth. He told them these injuries were inflicted by an attendant who had a habit of striking him with his fist to prevent his screaming when suffering pectoral pain. The wife and daughter complained to the Woman's Protective Association, which made an investigation. The results indicated that the management of the home was to blame for the unfortunate patient's carelessness. Tully, however, had been discharged yesterday and the coroner's jury today returned a verdict of "Come to his death from heart attack." We believe he was subjected to酷刑.

He was then taken to the hospital.

He was buried in a lumber office.

PLODDING PEDESTRIANS.

The Six Days Walk in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 10.—The score of the international pedestrian contest at midnight was: Hegeman 275; Normen 275; Connors 272; Horan 261; Neeser 261; Cartwright 260; Tidwell 244; Adams 238; Day 23; Golden 230; Tuckam 224; Williams 222; Nolan 218; Shuster 213; Taylor 210.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

One Man Killed and One Seriously Injured.

ATLANTA, April 10.—Charles W. Day, a Negro, who was seriously injured in a collision with a team of horses, died this morning. He had been hit by a team of horses, and John Coogin seriously, but not fatally, injured by falling from the fourth story of a new building on Kentucky avenue to-day. Hopkins leaves a widow and five children and Coogin has a wife.

NEW YORK.

Impaired Contract Laborers.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Six English boys, between 10 and 19 years old, were brought over on steamer Wyoming, by a man named Heyen, under an agreement to work on his ranch in Iowa for a year for their passage money. They are detailed at Castle Garden to-day, and will probably be sent back to their homes.

Stated meeting of Royal Arcanum this evening.

Business Items.

TOPS EATEN OFF.

Several persons have called to see a colored woman who has a malignant form of cancer on her foot. The cancer grows under the prescribed treatment, and the toes and one side of the foot were at length eaten away. The patient could not have survived much longer, but I recommended the use of Sulphur ointment, and it cured her, and she is well again. That was three years ago, and there has been no return of the disease. I have also used S. S. S. in many other cases with the best result, and have cured a great many cases of rheumatism with it, which had resisted all other treatment. Green Sulphur ointment is a most excellent medicine for skin diseases, and is to be preferred to any other.

W. M. STAGG, M. D.

Metherville, Miss., March 9, 1880.

AN EBERRILLIAN ALLEGED.

Will have to Answer to the Laws of the Law.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 10.—Detective Patrick Parker, of this city, has arrested in Denver, Frank H. Cushman, of this city, and started east with him. In 1883 Cushman committed a forgery upon the Merchant's National Bank in Paris, France, and Detective Parker, who during the trial, was the pastor, is to be sent to Europe to complete his sentence.

April 10.

PEACEFUL IN MEDICINE, MORTAL IN FOLLY.

Arrested for Robbery.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 10.—This morning William Smith went to the office of James Bradley, Tully & Co., of this city, to get his bill of lading for his load of timber he had hauled. The man started across the canopy along the railroad. A number of men started after him, a hand car but did not come up with him. They killed him, ran eight miles, when they killed him, the country was now believed to be full of bated breath, and many suspected of having been bitten will be killed.

FOOT PLAY BUREAU.

Arrested for Robbery.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 10.—This morning William Smith went to the office of James Bradley, Tully & Co., of this city, to get his bill of lading for his load of timber he had hauled. The man started across the canopy along the railroad. A number of men started after him, a hand car but did not come up with him. They killed him, ran eight miles, when they killed him, the country was now believed to be full of bated breath, and many suspected of having been bitten will be killed.

#####

